

Friday, April 11, 2008

DISCLAIMER –

This is basically an “informational transferral” type of website.

It can involve many topics [e.g., electronics, computing, food, wine, cooking, etc.] that could be used with unintentional results because of many factors.

Therefore, you use it “as is” and “at your own risk.”

It is presented “in good faith” and “as is” from the information available to me at the time it is presented.

Naturally, in our so litigious society today, there can be no liability for me in any way and in any form with respect to this paper.

If you make use of this web site in any way, then you are agreeing in full to these conditions of use.

Otherwise, the free “informational transferral” process can be inhibited and restricted in many negative ways and possibly for the benefit of those who may not have the best of intentions.